SLIPPING A COG

The American farmer is wise in his day, but even the wisest of men slip a cog occasionally.

That is the case with the farmer. With all his wisdom, with all of his energy, and his resources, he still is slipping one of his vital cogs.

He is making no special provision or inducement for keeping young men on the farm. He is not meeting the inducements offered by the city employer.

He pays his men good wages, but he supplies them no means of recreation and enjoyment.

Young men are full of life, and their red blood calls for action outside of the field of labor. That action they will have—if not at home, then elsewhere.

Every farming community should have its social center—a club, with its club house, and pool tables, and chess boards and other forms of amusements, not forgetting a dance hall.

The club should be for the exclus-

DOUG'S SMILE HAS GONE, AND REX, TOO

"Doug" Fairbanks has lost his old pal, Rex, who for seven years had been a faithful friend. When "Doug" was on his honeymoon in Europe Rex became ill, when he returned was only able to lick his hand. For a few days he rallied but never recovered, and soon left the Movie King for all time. Doctor's verdict was heart trouble. Perhaps it was just a ive use of its members and their invited guests, and should have its governing body just as done in the city clubs.

If all farmers within a radius of five or ten miles of this town would combine in the erection of such a club house the cost to each would be small, and yet the benefits would be beyond compute.

Youth demands an outlet for its excess of vitality, and if no opportunity is afforded in the country our young people will continue to drift away to the cities and the bright lights and the vices that kill.

Another winter is approaching, with its long evenings of monotony.

Are we of this community taking any steps towards furnishing a winter's recreation and amusement to the young people we so earnestly desire to retain on the farms for the next season's work?

It is the most vital question that confronts our local farmers today.

One serious mistake was made in the recent primaries over the country which should be corrected before election time in November. Voting booths were not provided with hand mirrors and powder puffs.

The future prosperity of this country will depend upon what we do, and not upon what we say. Give the talkative man a wide berth and let him go to work.

THE AUTOMOBILE IN THE COUNTRY

Some of the financial wise men are again predicting that the automobile industry has reached its peak.

We don't think so. Perhaps there's a peak in sight for the machines that today are running much above $2500 in price, but below that there are years of good business ahead. Only a few years ago the maker of one of the cheaper-priced autos gave orders to increase production 33 per cent for the coming year. Other makers that are able to make in quantity a good machine and deliver promptly are no doubt preparing for the same thing.

The degree of prosperity in this industry depends, of course, on how good the times are going to be. They needn't be especially flush in this connection. If crops are reasonably good, there will continue to be much buying of automobiles in the smaller towns and on the farms. The automobile has been such a boon to the countryside that nearly everybody must have one before the movement is closed. The automobile has made the farmer a city man. It has brought him pleasures and many new comforts that he ought to have and that everybody should be glad to see him have.

If the big cities are near saturation with automobiles, the country is not, even though it has been a large buyer in the past.

BOBBY'S LAST LAUGH

None of the baseball experts saw or could "see" Bobby Wilbert Robinson's Brooklyn Dodgers as National League pennant winners when the season opened last April. But the Dodgers are out in front now—breasting along toward their second pennant—the other being won in about the same unexpected way in 1916.

With the coal situation acute now, it is quite possible that the cold situation may become even more acute this winter.

"The mills of the gods grind slowly," they say, but in many flagrant cases they don't grind at all. The fellow who goes through life expecting admiration generally goes to his death without it.

Listen, good friends, and you shall hear why some Cigarettes are so all-fired dear

SOME cigarettes are packed in pretty boxes that certainly don't grow on trees. Next, they're dolled up—and flavorings are sure getting expensive. And then, they're priced a bit high so they'll seem "exclusive." But read how Spur Cigarettes offer the highest possible quality at the lowest possible price:

If there are any finer tobaccos from the Orient and the good old U. S. A. than those selected for Spurs, they must be a secret that the world has never heard. And when we got these combined in Spur Cigarettes, what do you suppose was the result? Just the best taste and aroma that any cigarette could give, and Willie Doll-up or Freddie Flavoring hadn't a thing to do with it.

Spur is "class" all through—even to the smart "brown-and-silver" package, triple-wrapped, that keeps Spurs fresh and fragrant. Try out a package of Spurs. You'll say "made and priced for popularity."
